

Transformed & Transforming

Perhaps more than any others in the Body of Christ, Christians in business who have been transformed by the Gospel stand out in their work environment. So known for greed, exploitation, deceit, and corruption, business has earned its presumptive bad reputation. But the Spirit of God dwelling within the responsive believer who absorbs the Scripture with an intention to live it out, brings a radical and very visible transformation. Justice pervades their business deals instead of just personal profit; a service mentality informs customer interaction and corporate policy; truth reenters the business sphere. Anxiety and pressure are replaced with peace and trust.

This kind of transformation cross-culturally causes a US bank officer to travel to Rwanda 16 times to fulfill his commitment to pursue job creation there. And a trucking company executive to pray for insights into his clients' businesses that others miss so he can serve them, even when the savings mean less trucking contracts. Or a woman in the Middle East to stimulate dozens of small job-creating ventures while she maintains an executive position in a large corporation. Or an Englishman to originate a new business for the Roma population in Eastern Europe, working through daunting obstacles for no gain to himself.

The Business Sphere of Transform World is dedicated to helping Christians experience the personal transformation that God intends and Himself enables. It is such transformed business practitioners who then have the catalytic potential of bringing transformation to peoples all over the world who suffer under rampant corruption, high unemployment, poverty, and impoverished churches. Join us. It's a win-win-win for all involved.
